Training Course on Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) 1st Week of Jan'07

Dear Sir/Madam,

In its trailblazing tradition American Society of Safety Engineers, Kuwait Chapter yet again presents a most wanted training course - Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA)

During the past few years Kuwait and the Gulf region is experiencing an upsurge of interest in environmental preservation. This is reflected in public, in media, by the governments and very importantly industry. Publication of limits and standards by Environmental Public Authority of Kuwait is a major step forward. EIA is a significant requirement mentioned in the standards.

Environmental Impact Assessment is an important step in the management of environment. Petroleum exploration and production, refining, oil and gas installations, petrochemicals, fertilizers, power plants etc. pose special threat to environment that needs careful consideration before the start of the project and before taking up any major up gradation and revamp. It is therefore most important that your engineers, managers and leaders must know how to do EIA the right way.

Wate, Scientist & Head, EIRPA Division & Mr. Shaik Pentu Saheb, Scientist who had conducted EIA for hundreds of oil and gas facilities. For the first time in the Gulf they have agreed to present this tailored course suited to specific requirements of the industry and professionals.
